accountant

I have always liked numbers and working with people. I did my degree in Maths and Sports Science because I knew it would give me lots of options. I now work for a large Accountancy firm advising companies what taxes they should pay to the government. Sometimes it is a bit like solving a mystery because the rules are always changing.

Do you have the skills to do this job?

marketing manager

I started in sales and got to know a lot about what my customers wanted. I am now based in the office in charge of a team. I use words to find ways to sell more and numbers to work out what we are selling and where.

Q.

What would be the best thing about having this job?

solicitor

I like solving puzzles. In my job I am solving problems for my clients and then giving them answers. Some days I can be in the office, but others I am in court or out meeting people.
